Xperformance

THE STORY SO FAR

X-Yachts has focused on high quality performance oriented cruisers and racing yachts since the yard was founded in 1979. Throughout the eighties, X-Yachts models have won nine official ORC World Championship titles, and they have topped the podium at the Admiral's Cup and the Commodores' Cup on several occasions. Many victories have been achieved in international IRC and IMS Championships. Recently, the X-37 came first, second and third in the IMS 670 World Championship 2007.

With X-Yachts experience gained from building almost 6,000 yachts for the yachting market in performance cruising and racing, the decision was taken in 2006 to build a completely new and dedicated cruising yacht: the Xc 45. With the launch of the first two models in this new line, Xc 42 and Xc 45, the X-Yachts range embraces three lines; each representing one of the characteristic three X-Yachts waterlines.

Xcruising

The brand new Xc line is an "aft cockpit" series, hundred per cent focussed on comfortable and easy passage cruising.

Xperformance

Delivering style, comfort, and uncompromised sailing pleasure with a sporting appeal.

Xracing

Pure exhilaration, whether it's class racing or as proven winner under handicap systems.

GETTING THE DETAILS RIGHT

The cockpit layout will appeal to the cruising family and the racing crew alike. The steering system utilising needle roller bearings, and a direct connection to the rudder, results in making the X-43 feel smooth and responsive on the helm.

She accelerates quickly in light airs and remains stiff in a breeze, making her a comfortable, effortless yacht to sail. Features that contribute to this include a long mainsheet traveller which runs low down in the cockpit.

The double-ended mainsheet system is led back to either side of the cockpit under the side decks, while the halyards and other associated control lines are led under the coachroof and then back to halyard winches either side of the companionway hatch. Another handy detail is the integrated sprayhood.

ELEGANT DESIGN FEATURES

X-Yachts' designers have spent a great deal of time working on details that at a first glance are not evident. Details such as the recessed seals on lockers, clever and practical door restraints, high-quality seals on the fridge, stainless steel hinges and non-slip elegant looking flooring are a few examples.

The interior quality is of usual high X-Yachts standard using the finest teak veneers and with superior finishing throughout.

The beautifully designed hull portlights will make the X-43 stand out, and allow additional natural light into the aft cabins and the saloon for improved comfort.

COMFORT AND PLEASURE AT SEA

The interior volume and layout will allow a family of up to eight members to enjoy their cruising. The engine installation will meet the same requirements as the larger luxury yachts, which results in the highest standard of engine room insulation, with forced cooled air ventilation via sound insulated piping.

THE HIDDEN QUALITIES

The hull and deck are of sandwich construction, thereby reducing weight and establishing a very rigid construction. The steel girder takes all the loads from the keel, mast and rig, which allows for high rig tension giving an X-Yacht increased sailing performance and pleasure.

The heavier components on board have been carefully located to ensure a low centre of gravity and stability figures, further enhancing the performance of our yachts.
